DECLARATION OF CLINT FEEZEL

I, Clint Feezel, hereby declare as follows:

1. I have personal knowledge of the facts contained in this Declaration, and they are true to the best of my knowledge and belief. I am over 18 years old and competent to testify to the following.

2. I farm land in and around Saint Elmo, Illinois.

3. I first purchased Nutriplant™ products in or around 2016. I purchased the product from Ben Buckwalter, who was selling it on behalf of his company, Yield Nation. Mr. Buckwalter came to my farm on a sales call with some materials showing test results for the Nutriplant™ products his company was selling.

4. I agreed to purchase a small amount of the Nutriplant™ AG foliar treatment, a spray fertilizer, and Nutriplant™ SD seed treatment, which helps seeds flow through a planter while adding some nutrients.

5. The Nutriplant™ AG foliar spray arrived in a blue drum and had a Nutriplant™ label on it.

6. I was happy with the Nutriplant™ products, and found that they made a difference in my crops. They were also easy to use. Importantly, the Nutriplant™ AG foliar spray was easy to mix and apply.

7. I continued to purchase Nutriplant™ products every year after that.

8. In or around December 2019, Mr. Buckwalter asked me if I wanted to buy more Nutriplant™ foliar spray. I purchased two 30-gallon drums of the Nutriplant™ AG foliar spray to use for the 2020 crop year. Mr. Buckwalter gave me an invoice from his company, Yield Nation. That invoice had pictures of the Nutriplant™ AG foliar spray that I believed I was buying, which showed a blue drum with the Nutriplant™ label on it. I purchased what I believed to be more of the Nutriplant™ foliar spray because I was familiar with how it performed. A true and correct copy of the invoice for my purchase is attached as Exhibit A.

9. I paid Yield Nation up front for the Nutriplant™ AG foliar spray. A true and correct copy of the check I provided to Yield Nation is attached as Exhibit B.

10. After some delays, the foliar spray was eventually delivered in spring of 2020.

11. Unlike the Nutriplant™ AG foliar spray I had received in past years and that was also represented to me on the invoice (Exhibit A), the foliar spray I received in 2020 came in a clear, white drum. I could see through the drum that the foliar spray had separated in the barrels. That was obviously different from the Nutriplant™ foliar spray I had used in the past. I did not initially look at the barrel's label, however. I assumed that it was the same Nutriplant™ foliar spray I had purchased in the past.

12. Eventually, I decided to roll one of the barrels around to see if it would mix. I could see through the barrel that even after being agitated, the product did not stay in suspension. Instead, it quickly settled out into separate layers.

13. Before I needed to use the foliar spray, I heard from a neighboring farmer who had purchased foliar spray from Yield Nation. That farmer had learned that the foliar spray he purchased from Yield Nation was not Nutriplant™ foliar spray. He also told me he had heard the spray was clogging farmers' sprayers when they attempted to use it.

14. At that point, I checked the label on the barrels Yield Nation sold me. Unlike the foliar spray I had received in the past, the barrels did not have Nutriplant™ labels. Instead, the labels said Yield Nation.

15. I purchased the Nutriplant™ AG foliar spray because I was familiar with it, and that is what I believed I was purchasing again for the 2020 crop year based on the representations made to me. I would not have purchased two drums of a Yield Nation foliar spray that I had not tested before. I would have purchased the Nutriplant™ product if given a choice between the two.

16. Based on my observation that the Yield Nation foliar spray I received in 2020 had separated out into layers, I hesitated to use it in my sprayer. I did not want to risk the product clogging my sprayer and costing me precious time. When I drained the Yield Nation foliar spray from the barrel, it had separated out so badly that I had to run water into the barrel to clear out the sediment at the bottom.

17. I ended up using the spray on my beans just to get rid of it. The process was much more involved than using the Nutriplant™ foliar spray. I had to agitate small batches of the spray and spray it as quickly as possible to get it to spray without clogging my sprayer.

18. I tried to contact Mr. Buckwalter at Yield Nation about his product, but I have not received any reply.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.
